Manager Comment

October lived up to its reputation as a scary month for stocks. Solid earnings reports from the top technology companies were not enough to offset investors' worries over rising COVID-19 cases and uncertainty heading into the November elections. All three major averages were negative for the month. Despite Apple posting strong numbers for its fiscal 4Q, Amazon posting a 37% increase in sales, Google parent Alphabet reporting blowout numbers and Facebook beating expectations, worried investors took profits. Safe haven Treasuries and gold also fell over the month.

The FAANG+ UCITS Fund traded lower in October, in line with the Nasdaq Composite and beating the S&P 500 and Dow Jones on the month. The fund still has a total return of over 25% for the year. Snap Inc. was the fund's top performer in October. The fund's top five holding were Alphabet (Google), Facebook, Amazon.com, Apple and Netflix.
