Manager Comment

U.S. equities rallied strongly through April, with major indexes finishing the month sharply higher and pushing to record closes late in the month. The S&P 500 gained about 10.4%, the Nasdaq rose about 15.3%, and the Dow added about 7.1%. Performance was led by growth-oriented areas, but the tone improved more broadly as investors leaned into earnings season and risk appetite firmed, with notable leadership from technology and other communication and consumer-facing growth industries. Nine of the eleven S&P sectors posted solid performance in April.

The Castlestone Low Volatility UCITS fund traded higher in April, line the S&P 500, posting a double-digit gain for the month. Advanced Miro Devices and Micron were the fund's top performers in the month. Uber and Intuitive Surgical were removed from Low Volatility in April. As of the last day of the month, the fund holds 51 stocks across all eleven S&P 500 sectors.

Fund Objective

The investment objective of the Sub-Fund is to generate capital growth from the equity market whilst maintaining in aggregate lower volatility relative to the broader US equity market. The Sub-Fund is expected to invest mainly in the US equity market with focus on equities listed by issuers domiciled or with country of risk being the United States of America. In aggregate, the fund will seek for these investments to have lower volatility characteristics relative to the broader U.S. equity market. Up to 100% of the assets of the Sub-Fund may be invested in equities. The Sub-Fund is however not expected to have any specific industry, market capitalisation or market sector bias
